

WE NOMINATE

William D'Olier Lippincott, one of this country's "most knowing deans," who after some 22 years in the broad, and exhausting, field of undergraduate personnel relations, is resigning as Princeton University's Dean of Students to accept the newly established post of Executive Director of the Alumni Council, the governing arm of Princeton's 42,000-member National Alumni Association. At age 48 the Philadelphia-born Lippincott has decided that "the time is now" for him to relinquish a position in which he has come to sense the "wisdom of narrowing the gap in age between the dean and those with whom he works so closely, and the possibility of rotating men through the job."

In announcing the resignation, and Lippincott's acceptance of "new and far-reaching responsibilities in the development of an alumni organization founded in 1826," President Robert F. Goheen was joined by T. Henry Dixon, Chairman of The Alumni Council, Philadelphia business executive. Both men underscored the "growing importance of strengthening the University's communications with more than 170 class and regional alumni organizations" and noted that Lippincott, initially as Assistant to the Dean of the College, then as Assistant Dean of the College and for the past 14 years as Princeton's first Dean of Students, "has worked directly or indirectly with nearly 18,000 alumni, or well over 40 per cent of the membership of our entire alumni body."

Lippincott has administrative oversight (until July 1st) over undergraduate social life and all non-curricular activities, including athletics and athletic organizations, and is responsible for matters relating to the conduct and discipline of undergraduates. Over the years he has worked term upon term with scores of organizations ranging from student government, campus political groups and publications to the upper-class eating clubs. Alger Hiss' visitation in 1956, the mock heroics provided by Cuha's Castro, the appearances of Mississippi's Ross Barnett, Madame Nhu and Alabama's George Wallace, the peaceful picketing of LBJ in 1965, and last fall's protest demonstrations at the Institute for Defense Analyses — all have been part of the "Lippincott era."

The scope of the responsibilities shouldered by a Dean of Students in the turbulent present is suggested by a partial listing of Lippincott's titles. He is Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Discipline as well as Chairman of the University Council on Athletics and its Executive Committee. An ex officio member of the University Trustee Committees on Health and Athletics and Student Life, he is secretary of both the Faculty Committees on Undergraduate Life and on Athletic Eligibility and is also a member of the Faculty Committees on Admission and on Examinations and Standing. And as Athletic Council Chairman he represents Princeton in innumerable Ivy League meetings.

Active in community service groups, a trustee of St. George's School (Newport, R.I.) and for several years a member of the Long-Range Planning Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, Lippincott joined the University Administration early in 1946 upon completing five years of wartime duty with the United States Army.

For finding it difficult to "stress sufficiently the rewards and enduring satisfaction I have found in my work with 'generations' of students," for now entering upon the equally tough assignment of interpreting a major university to its alumni in the late 20th century; for meriting this rare accolade from The Daily Princetonian — "Princeton students are losing the humor, frankness and receptiveness of a good friend;" he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

PROFILE OF A YEAR
Soft Spots in Economy. Like its national counterparts, the economy of the Princeton community showed an overall upward trend for 1967, but a close look at some of the categories in TOWN TOPICS' year-end index at right will reveal definite soft spots. (The quarterly index appears on Page 12).

Reflecting the gloomy reports that have been issued from Detroit over the past several months, car sales by Princeton area dealers fell 9% over the 1966 total, a numerical drop of just over 500 cars. The decline follows on the heels of another 10% drop recorded a year earlier.

The record year both locally and across the country was in 1965, when sales here hit a high mark of 2,759. The decrease stops at 1964. The coming year may tell a better story; however, one Ford executive has already issued the optimistic prediction of a nine million car total for Detroit's automakers.

Perhaps the corner has already been turned. A check of the quarterly chart reveals car sales for the final three months of 1967 increased 16% over the corresponding period in 1967. A 16% rise over the last three months of 1967's third quarter is mainly due to seasonal factors.

Construction Industry Weak. Another sector of the economy in need of support is the construction industry, which has been depressed most of the last 12 months. New housing in the Borough is way up in percentage but only two numerically. The Township, where there is more land available, shows a decrease of 9% from 1966.

Building permits in both municipalities show a small percentage drop of 3% in the Borough and 5% in the Township, and these are somewhat more significant than the larger numerical figures recorded in the value of building permits.

Last year quite a bit of institutional building was begun, which included such projects as the University's $10 million Math-Physics complex, the $2.7 million addition to Princeton Hospital, and the Borough's Lloyd Terrace on North Harrison Street.

Property transfers — purchases of new homes — show a mixed pattern this year, just as they did last. In 1967 the Borough had an increase of 16%, while the Township reported a decline of 19%. The year before, the opposite was true, with the Township having the increase. However, if the figures for the two are comhined, a small drop over last year is reflected.

Savings Up Smartly. What's happening to money not being spent on new cars, homes, etc.? Some of it is going into savings, as indicated by the healthy rise of 18% in the figures from the Princeton financial establishments. Checking accounts are up, too, by 4%.

The 6% rise in loans is a significant increase, as the problem of tight money which was felt to some degree in Princeton in 1966 was not as apparent.

The past year was a significant one for the post office too, both in what it did and did not receive. What it got was another jump in postal receipts, this one amounting to 12%. Last year the rise was 12%, the year before that 37%.

What it did not get was a new location to build a bigger post office to process the increasing volume of mail. While the debate continues over possible sites for the new structure, the old building may well burst at the seams.

Motor Money. Another tight situation, one for which hopefully some remedies may be forthcoming, is the shortage of parking in the central business district. Shoppers jammed 88,702 in cars into the Borough's meters during the last year, an increase of more than $2,500 over 1966.

There has also been a steady rise here for the past several years. The Borough has attempted to keep up by opening up new lots, but many people would agree that in 1967 free metered space was hard to find in the center of town.

Another increase in funds headed for both the Borough and Township coffers will come as a result of a slight rise in the local education. The Township's have increased from $81.9 to $84.7 million and the Borough from $43.4 to $43.3 million.

Cell Telephone may appear to be losing customers, with that 22% drop in telephones. But the service is still all across the board. This is all traceable to the fact that some 3,000 University students' phones were put on a "42" exchange this past summer and are no longer counted in the total. The company had a 4% rise in phones in service from the third to the fourth quarter in 1967.

In the area of employment the town's biggest firms and the University either remained the same or added personnel. The University, with 2,716 employees, largest in this area, reported no change, did McGraw-Hill with 1,976.

Small gains were registered by Mobil Oil Corp., Union Camp Bag, FMC, American Cyanamid and Western Electric, RCA, several largest, added 45, and Educational Testing Service, with the third highest payroll, had a net gain of 63.

During the year the Borough had 122 welfare recipients on its rolls, while the Township cared for 75. This figure represents the total number of cases, and may include the same family on relief in April and then back on again in November.

Births and Deaths. In the department of vital statistics, the Borough recorded an increase in births from 184 to 197 — Continued on Next Page 1994, and a decrease in deaths from 320 to 303; however, Borough residents themselves play a part in less than 35% of these figures. That great reputation institution known as Princeton Hospital, drawing patients and expectant mothers from all over central New Jersey, accounted for the greater part of these figures.

Borough residents accounted for 113 births and 68 deaths. The Township had 181 new babies and 68 deaths, but representing a small decline over last year. The borough issued 72 marriage licenses; the Township, 82.
Revenues from parking and motor vehicle violations almost doubled in the Township and declined in the Borough. The former collected $8,120 in fines vs. $4,003 last year, while the Borough figure dropped from $82,123 to $56,710.

One reportable disease was definitely on the way out in 1994, and steps are underway to wipe out another. Neither health department reported any cases of measles, mainly because of the success of the program to inoculate all infants.
Mumps is the next target, and a new vaccine will soon be available. The Township reported 20 cases and the Borough 15 for 1993.

The library, in its first full year in the new building, had another banner year, highlighted by an increase in book circulation from 218,930 to 249,000. Total circulation, including records, films and a framed art reproductions was a grand 307,903.

Librarian Robert Staples pointed out that the circulation figures do not show the many library customers who stopped in to read a book in the side or to deference work. "We have more than 100 chairs in the new library as opposed to 35 in the old and they are almost always all taken," Mr. Staples said.
The Borough had 41 dog bites and three cat bites, but in a year which saw steadily rising prices, higher taxes and hundreds of still more -- all topped off by galloping inflation, there was no reported case of man biting dog. It's reassuring.

APPROVAL EXPECTED

Lowell K. Bridwell, Federal Highway administrator, had told him after the two had toured by helicopter the portion of the interstate system between Scudders Falls Bridge and Piscataway Township, that he would give him a prompt answer concerning the Trenton area portion. Residents in the Piscataway area are expected to object to the proposed alignment.
Until the 1-95 alignment is settled, the status of 1-93 will be uncertain. Commissioner Goldberg said, 1-295 ends at 1-95 near Scudders Falls.

PARKED CAR STRUCK
Driver Issued Summons, Albert H. O'Bryen, 31, 18 Charlton Street, was charged with careless driving Saturday evening when he hit a parked car on Hamilton Avenue.
Mr. O'Bryen was taken to Princeton Hospital and admitted with lacerations of his forehead and right arm. His car, its entire front end damaged, had to be towed away.

The owner of the parked car was John P. Ferguson of 159 Hamilton -- site of the mishap. Phil Stanley Donald investigated.

TOPICS Of The Town

IN THE TOWNSHIP . . .

Taxes, Shopping, Center. Even if the Township cut its municipal budget in half, taxes would still go up because of school and county levies.

John Wallace, Township Committeeman, made this observation Monday night at Township meetings reported they were working hard on the forthcoming budget.

Mayor Carl C. Schafer said that more than half a dozen people had expressed their register alarm about the new rise in school taxes, and Mayor Schafer explained patiently once again, that a municipal government has absolutely no voice in, or control over, a school budget.

Taxpayers got some relief when Frank Van Gelder, Township deputy clerk, said that with rates now nailed down in final form, the owner of that $30,000 Township house would have only $110 increase school taxes, not $114.

Shopping Center. "We want to upgrade the Shopping Center as much as good business would dictate for the investment involved," wrote George Warnecke, owner of the Princeton Shopping Center, in a letter to the Township asking for some improvement in parking, waste disposal, shopping cart disposal, traffic, cleanliness and the like. Committeeman Wallace repeated the report he made last week to the Planning Board about a December meeting between Township officials and representatives of the Shopping Center.

At the meeting, the Township warned that the Center was at a "competitive disadvantage" with other shopping centers because of the way people felt about the Wallace listed above. Mr. Wallace reported. The Township asked for some improvement when construction begins this year on the new A&P and the Hammer addition.

Mr. Warnecke, in his letter of reply, said: "We had always hoped that the Princeton Township officials would become more aware of the increasing need for assuring the success of the Center particularly so as it contributes substantially to tax collections."

"Store managers are more aware of deficiencies than the landlord," Mayor Schafer replied. He said he had talked with several store-owners in the Center and had asked their co-operation in waste disposal.

Although Mr. Warnecke assured the Township of his co-operation, Mr. Wallace said the owner still had not requested police authority to control parking and traffic. The Township cannot give its police such authority without the request.

"The Center has filed an appeal on its taxes," reported Attorney Gordon Griffin, "but certainly indicates less than eager co-operation."

More Pipeline? Transcontinental Pipeline has approached two Township property-owners about acquiring right of way to enlarge its present 36-inch gas line to 42 inches. The residents are Mr. and Mrs. Roland C. Bergh, 29 Hilltop Drive, and Mrs. and Mrs. Harold Kuhn, 74 Woodland Drive.

Hilltop intersects with Route 206 near Ewing, and Woodland is right around the corner from Hilltop.

Mrs. Bergh has written the state Public Utility Commission protesting acquisition of the additional right-of-way, citing the high-pressure nature of the pipeline and its alleged vulnerability to the kind of explosion that shook Brooklyn a year ago.

Administrator Joseph R. Nini said Transcontinental wrote last fall informing the Township that it planned to "loop the lines" in the municipality, but not defining the term.

At Mr. Nini's request, Trans-

MAN OF THE WEEK: William P.O. Lippincott, Dean of Students at Princeton, who will become executive director of the University's Alumni Council. (For a related story on forthcoming changes on campus, see page 10.)

continental agreed to discuss the Levine purchase with Mercer County, which had hoped to buy the lot for park purposes, and with Township Open Space representatives, who were interested in the wooded area for the same purpose.

At the suggestion of Mr. Wallace the Township will write Transcontinental asking for firm indications of what the company plans to do in the Hilltop-Woodland area. Mr. Griffin will study the question to see whether the company is subject to municipal zoning regulations.

REGISTRATION SET

For Adult School, Thursday, January 18, is the last day of registration for courses in the winter session of the Princeton Adult School. Registration and open house will run from 4 to 6 and from 8 to 9:30 in the Princeton High School cafeteria.

Among the courses available to Princeton area residents is a weekly two-hour session on Pre-Columbian Art under Gilbert G. Griffin of the Princeton University Art Museum. Another two-hour course will be Total Landscaping, taught by Samuel J. DeTuro, president of Woodside Associates.

Mrs. Majory B. Pratt will direct a course in Calligraphy. The author-designer will instruct students in the study and practice of basic forms in roman and italic lettering. A two-hour Watercolor Painting class will stress simple rules of composition perspective, color-mixing and brushwork. Mrs. Eugene Gillespie, instructor in charge of the course, will concentrate on painting still life, flowers, simple portraits and, possibly, landscapes.

A course in sculpture will be offered as well as a workshop in Woven Rug and Tapes. — Continued on Next Page try Techniques. The sculpture session will stress the use of different media including wood — which can then be used in bronze or plastic for outdoor decorative use.

WE'LL LOSE MONEY

With New Tax Law. Under the state's new tax law, the state will now collect all business-personal property taxes within a municipality and although towns will be reimbursed by the state, almost every community will lose money, the two Princetonians included.

That was the conclusion this week of Princeton's town administrators, Robert F. Mooney for the Borough and Joseph R. Nini for the Town ship.

Mr. Mooney thinks the Borough may lose about $100,000. Mr. Nini's office hasn't done the final figuring yet, but Mr. Nini points out that the Town ship, with less commercial activity than the Borough, probably won't lose much.

Towns stand to lose money because the state will base reimbursement on the basis of '64, '65 or '66 taxes, whichever year is highest. The catch is that '67 is left out, and for almost every community '67 was higher than any of the other three years.

The new state of affairs came to the eye of the average taxpayer last week when school officials estimated that the new policy had inflated the school tax by about 10%.

In the past, school board and county got some of that business personal property money. Without it, both school board and county have to pick up their levy to get the money they need.

As Mr. Nini puts it, school and county tax rates will be "overrated," and local purposes taxes "underated." The taxpayer hopes the balance will come out even.

ASK BUS LAW REPEAL

School Board Agrees. Princeton's school board would like to see the private parochial school bus law repealed and Mrs. George Fremont, president of the board, thinks there may be a good chance such action in the new legislature. "We are strongly in support of repeal," Mrs. Fremont emphasized this week, after the State Federation of District Boards of Education announced it will work for repeal. The bus money is better spent on education.

When the law was before the legislature last year, former superintendent John McKenna and school board counsel Thomas P. Cook went to Trenton to speak against the measure.

Mrs. Fremont said she would like to see the state take over the entire transportation package, operating all school buses for private, public and parochial children, and paying the bill by taxes.

"This would free the school board to devote time and energy to education," she commented.

JOHNSON NAMED

To Mini-Bus Committee. Tristram B. Johnson, 25 Campbell Circle, has agreed to drive Mayor Henry S. Patterson's new mini-bus committee.

The mayor promised, in his New Year's address, that he would appoint a committee to study the possibility of mini-buses for Princeton. He and Temperatures that have stayed below freezing for nine of the last 11 days have kept the footing treacherous. When you step into the gutter, your foot isn't covered with slush, but then you might just break your leg.

So far, the traditional January thaw isn't in sight. The thermometer will continue to average below normal through the weekend, with snow flurries possible about Saturday.

Mr. Johnson will fill out the rest of the committee together, the mayor told his press conference this week. He added that one of the members will be Mr. John Drury, 41 Harrison, who has asked to serve. The mayor said he had received approximately 120 more signatures supporting Morris Farer, pharmacist, in the dispute with the Borough over new parking regulations that would eliminate parking spaces in front of his store.

KILLED IN VIETNAM

Wife a Widow at 17. Mrs. Jacinta Robinson, 17, of Cranbury, who became a mother five months ago, became a widow last Saturday when her husband, James, 19, was killed by a booby trap explosion in Vietnam.

Born in Cape May, Pfc. Robinson had lived in Cranbury for five years before enlisting in November, 1964. He went to Vietnam the following October.

Neighbors reported that Pfc.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The recent "letter to the editor" of John Fine, Jr. (TOWN TOPICS, January 6), criticizing my nomination of Professor Lockwood as "Man of the Week" because of his participation in the Freedom House report on American policy in East Asia, must not be allowed to go unanswered.
Mr. Fine speaks of the "imperial and criminal behavior of our nation" and the "criminal behavior of LBJ" in connection with Vietnam. He concludes that Professor Lockwood's "support of this behavior" is "support of the Freedom House report" "deserve to be condemned or ignored."

In response to this position, and without wishing to debate the merits of our country's policy in Vietnam, we think that it should be pointed out that in a year Americans (probably the vast majority) believe that there is nothing immoral or criminal about this policy. But more pertinently, we feel that most Americans will not want to condemn or ignore Professor Lockwood and the 13 other eminent East Asian scholars who signed the report, regardless of whether they agree with the views expressed in it.
To condemn a man for expressing his views on this subject is to undermine one of our basic freedoms. And to deny recognition to a scholar who participates in a report of national importance because some people disagree with the views expressed therein would, likewise, constitute an impairment of our freedom. It would seem that those who oppose our country's Vietnam policy would be the first to insist on these principles.

We happen to agree with Professor Lockwood's views about American policy in East Asia; but the real point is that our country must reach a state of maturity which enables us to bear another man's differing point of view without condemning him or criticizing those who give him recognition.

Traffic Problem vs. Forer.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I have noticed the energetic publicity campaign being carried on by Morris Forer against the proposed new parking arrangement for Witherspoon Street. All of a sudden, it would seem, Mr. Forer has the only business house in Princeton which might be affected by this change.

It occurs to me that Mr. Forer may be a little narrow minded toward a very reasonable and sensible solution to Witherspoon Street traffic — and drivers do have considerable trouble upon entering Witherspoon from the west since their vision is definitely obstructed by parked cars.

Generally, all of us find ourselves going "around the block" to get to various shops and stores about town, and if people want to patronize Mr. Forer's store it's no big deal to go around his block.

A self-styled DP of New York, Mr. Hapgood in admirable support of Mr. Forer writes of the important services and attendant compassion which Mr. Forer and his store dispenses. Does this, a single store's importance, become greater than the local traffic problem?

Eventually all of the stores and shops in Princeton will experience similar disturbing parking and traffic changes — but I would think that they would also survive and continue to do business with their customers.

Surely Mr. Forer could be something else as new to with Try Town Topics Classified. Call 924-2208 today.

generous as many others have for the good of Princeton. It's the genuine democratic way and furthermore, isn't it all part of the great liberal and progressive world in which we are living and enjoying?

Incidentally, I was in the Porter Pharmacy one Sunday and Mr. Forer did appear to be quite concerned about the four or five young neighborhood children who were standing about the counter. I imagine this was the attitude of compassion, which Mr. Hapgood had mentioned in his letter, being displayed.

So, come on Mr. Forer, extend some of that good old hearty compassion to the traffic planning commission.

Protest Urged.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Once the area around the old mill at the Kingston bridge is destroyed by a new four-lane roadway (with extra for the shoulders), it will be irreplaceable. It will be the ruin of a pictureque and historic spot.

The Township records show why a 6-foot right-of-way for Route 27. The State claims 99 feet.

Remember that if a 99-foot right-of-way is established, then Route 27 can be made a four-lane highway straight into Princeton, all the way (why else have the bridge so wide)? If any of you taxpayers feel that this excessively wide Kingston bridge and roadway is not what you want, I suggest that you write the Governor and other favorite politicians at once.

Mayor Schaler Commended.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is a copy of a letter sent to the Mayor and Township Committee:

The League of Women Voters of the Princeton Community wishes to commend Mayor Schaler on the housing statements he made in his New Year's Day Address. We, too, feel that additional low and middle income housing is the Township's "most important single item for 1968." We hope that the Township Committee will implement this statement during the coming year.

We were pleased to learn, that you plan to meet with the Princeton Borough Housing Authority and sincerely hope that arrangements can be worked out for a Joint Borough-Township Housing Authority in the very near future.

The few funds necessary thus to extend the use of this vital service to the community can easily be obtained by voluntary subscription, perhaps enough to assure such use permanently by endowment. Sizeable funds have already been offered.

What is perhaps not as easy of achievement is the approval by all authorities of boroughs involved within a reasonable time, an action to be anticipated when there is no cost to the related boroughs.

Those who wish to support the above suggestion, regard less of funds, should write or phone the undersigned. Your cooperation in this worthy enterprise would be very much appreciated.

Robinson's last letter home had been received two days before word of his death. He had inquired in the event of his death that he be buried in Cape May.

The dead soldier's wife and daughter, Leah, live at 22 Maplewood Avenue. His mother, Mrs. Evelyn Phares Robinson, also resides at that address.

FIVE ARE FINED to Borough Court. Five Princeton area drivers were fined yesterday for speeding by Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Paul G. Keen, 39, Stone Brook Road, Hopewell, was fined $15 for careless driving, and Howard J. Hoffman, 23, of 112 for failing to observe a stop sign. Theodore E. Hollmann, 15 Linden Lane, and Robert T. Ebenleiter of Kingston paid $15 and $10 for late inspection infractions.

In criminal court, Brian H. Woods of Cranbury Road, Princeton Junction, was fined $10 for using loud and offensive language when traffic patrolman Anthony Randone issued him a parking ticket. John Weber of 108 Parkside Drive paid a fine for double parking after a charge of idling against him was dismissed. Ptl. Gerald Patterson, the complainant, reported that Mr. Weber had thrown the parking ticket at him.

The license of Leslie S. Mina, 21, of Lincoln Avenue, was suspended for 30 days by the Division of Motor Vehicles for speeding.

TWO DRESSES STOLEN

From Clayton's. Two expensive dresses were hospitalized last week from H. P. Clayton's on Palmer Square.

One was valued at $125. The second dress with a matching coat was valued by the store at $110. The theft was reported to Borough police on Thursday.

BOGUS $10 BILL PASSED

At Craft Cleaners. A counterfeit $10 bill was passed last week at Craft Cleaners, 225 Nassau Street, through Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan despite the quality of the bill on the front side as "very well done."

The bogus bill was turned over to the Borough police last week by John Janick, owner of the cleaners. He told police he had been misled by the bill. His bank declared it a counterfeit.

Chief McCrohan commented that the bill was "one of the fake bills around. They could have come from New York."

The front side of the bill bearing Hamilton's portrait is well known to the left of Mr. McCrohan, who said it has been done professionally.

"They have missed a thing," he said.

It carries the signatures of Henry H. Fowler, Secretary of the Treasury, and Kathryn O'Hay Granahan, Treasurer of the United States. The serial number is the left of Mr. Fowler's signature is 1963A.

The counterfeit lacks however the tiny colored hairs impregnated in all genuine currency paper. Chief McCrohan added it "does leave the crisp feel" of a regular $10 bill.

On the reverse side, the green is much darker than that of a genuine bill and the white appears to be watermarked on the coupon housing in Princeton. No date has yet been selected.

Satisfaction!

Satisfaction means many things to many people and all may view it differently.
From every point of view, this feeling enters into every transaction at the prescription counter of the retail pharmacy.

The customer lacks satisfaction that everything has been done to cure the illness.
The doctor has been seen and has given his professional advice and he has the satisfaction that the prescription written is being competently filled and will help his patient. The manufacturer whose product has been prescribed has satisfaction knowing that his long hours and expense of research will return a profit to continue to work for the benefit of mankind.

Finally, the pharmacist takes pride and satisfaction in knowing that his training, integrity and ideals aid in the healing of the sick and helps to promote the better life for mankind.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

By Two Democratic Groups, Princeton's two Democratic organizations have elected officers for 1968. There are still two districts groups, but four people hold executive positions in them, and there will be more hitherto exchanges in the future.

The Princeton Community Democratic Organization, and Cedar Lane, is a so-called "firehouse" group, operated operationally by the patrons. Mothers assist on mornings every three weeks and both parents give time in addition to the administrative and maintenance work.
Sweeney and Miss Mary Perine, vice-presidents; Miss Mary Perone, vice-presidents;
Miss Esther Dilworth, treasurer; Archibald S. Alexander Jr., assistant treasurer; Martin Lombardo, recording secretary and Mrs. Madeleine Finn, corresponding secretary.

Board members (Borough) are Borough Councilman Robert Henry; Wilbert Brooks and James Andrews, the two unsuccessful Council candidates last fall; Mrs. Wilson J.
Coan, unsuccessful candidate for re-election as Tax Collector; Lawrence Ferrara and Edmond Carroll.

Board members (Township) are Montague Brown, unsuccessful candidate for Committee last fall; Charles Farrington; Daisey Woolridge; Leroy Balden, Mrs. Edward
Jennings and Mrs. Elizabeth Hall.

The Princeton Community Democratic Organization, informed a year ago by dissident Democrats, has re-elected Melvin Gottlieb president.
Other officers are Herbert Abelson (Township) and Mrs.
Daniel C. Dillon (Borough).
Mailing, corresponding secretary; Murray Medvin, recording secretary; H. Philip Minnie, treasurer; Mrs. James F.
Graves, assistant treasurer.

Cross First Aid classes being offered in Pennington. The classes will train citizens in the simpler, more efficient first aid techniques that have come into use in recent years. Cooperating in the community program is the Hope Valley Adult School, which, beginning Monday at 8, will offer a standard first aid course as one of its regular class sessions.

Another standard course will begin Thursday, January 25 at 8 p.m. in the Pennington First Aid Squad Building on Brower Place. Details on both courses, and possible advanced first aid courses, are available by calling 727-2435.

SOME UNIVERSITY MOVES

Three landmarks involved. "Prospect," home of Princeton University's presidents for 90 years, will become a faculty social center, President Robert F. Goheen will move his family into "Lowrie House" at 83 Stockton Street and the "President's House," where the Dean of the Faculty has been living, will become headquarters for The Alumni Council. These changes will begin to take place this spring, according to an announcement this week by the University's Board of Trustees.

"Prospect" is on a four-acre plot in the heart of the campus. After the Goheens move out, it will become a social center where faculty members can meet informally, and where large University social functions can be held.

It will be a place where humanists, scientists and engineers can exchange points of view in a relaxed atmosphere," President Goheen observed.

The house was renovated completely before the Goheen family moved in, about ten years ago, and conversion expenses are expected to be minimal, a University official said. Most of these expenses will be covered by a fund established by an anonymous donor for the purpose.

120-Year-Old Landmark. "Lowrie House," which will become the President's residence, has been used for the past eight years as the University's guest house, and for special University events. It was built in 1848 and given to the University in 1860 by Mrs. Walter Lowrie in memory of her husband, Episcopal minister who was graduated from Princeton in 1860 and died in Princeton Theological Seminary in 1882.

210-Year-Old Landmark. The original "President's House," home of ten Princeton University presidents, is the brick house next to the First Presbyterian Church, facing Nassau Street and Palmer Square.

It was built in 1754 and first occupied in 1766-67 by Princeton's second President, Aaron Burr. Its front doorway is still flanked by two giant "Stamp Act" Sycamores planted in 1766.

The house was referred to by John Gunther in his 1947 book, "Inside USA" as "the most beautiful house I saw."

Princeton's Alumni Council and the Princeton National Alumni Association have had offices for the past two years at 81 Prospect Avenue. The second and third floors of the President's House, "The grounds" are reserved for meetings and conferences of the Council or the University.

ART EXHIBIT PLANNED

In Rocky Hill. The paintings of William Monaghan are currently on display in Sunday through January 28 from noon until 6 at the Rocky Hill Arts in the "Art School" on Montgomery Road. The show includes and pastels. Mr. Monaghan, who points under the name "Dolce," has exhibited and taught in the Princeton area for 12 years. His last one-man show in this area was held at the Nassau Club in 1966. He also has ex-

"PROSPECT" House. This stone house has been the home of Princeton University presidents since 1870. Built in 1852, it will become a faculty social center.

"LOWRIE HOUSE". This house, at 83 Stockton, will become the new home of Princeton University's presidents. It was designed by John Nutman, who also designed "Prospect."

hibited in other parts of the state, Pennsylvania and New York, and his work is represented in many collections.

Information concerning the exhibit may be obtained by calling 924-7758.

SPRING SESSION SET

For Hopewell Adult School. The spring session of the Hopewell Valley Adult School will begin Monday, January 22 and end April 4. Registrations are now being accepted at the Adult School offices, 422 South Main Street, Pennington from noon until 4.

Given this term will be a course on "Concerns in Modern American Life," a series of lectures, featuring distinguished speakers. January 22 will be given by George Gallup Jr., president of the American Institute of Public Opinion. It is titled, "Political, Social and Religious Trends in American Society."

Interested persons should request further information or audition applications in writing, care of Severie Erik Thorendahl, 494 West 11th Street, Apt. 21, New York, New York, 10027.

Noted Vocal Teacher to Open Studio

Severie Erik Thorendahl of New York City has announced plans to hold auditions on January 27th and February 10th at the Tri-Harmony House, 225 East State Street, Trenton. Mr. Thorendahl will teach in the Trenton Princeton area for two days each week at the request of local musicians who have found the need for competent voice teaching in the area.

Mr. Thorendahl was assistant to the late Paula Novikova, who was the teacher of such notable singers as George London, Nicolai Gedda, Fedora Barbieri, Ferruccio Tagliavini, and Liuba Woltchek. Mr. Thorendahl specializes in vocal technique and the development of young voices, particularly of college age.

Interested persons should request further information or audition applications in writing, care of Severie Erik Thorendahl, 494 West 11th Street, Apt. 21, New York, New York, 10027.

BUSINESS In Princeton

EPESTEIN PROMOTED

By RCA, Jess Epstein, a specialist with RCA since 1935, has been appointed to the Research and Engineering staff of the David Sarnoff Research Center as a staff engineer. Prior to the appointment, Mr. Epstein, an expert in electromagnetic propagation and radiating systems, worked with the RCA Missile and Surface Radar Division in Moorestown.

A native of Cincinnati, Ohio, where he attended the University of Cincinnati, Mr. Epstein joined the RCA Manufacturing Company in Camden immediately after receiving his Master's degree in physics. He resides at 7 Littlebrook Road.

RESEARCH SITE PLANNED

By Western Electric. Plans for a new structure have been released by the Western Electric Engineering Research Center on Carter Road in Hopewell Township. The new building, encompassing some 10,000 square feet of additional space, will be architecturally similar to the buildings already in existence at the research site.

The space created by the expansion will be used by both research and administrative units of Western Electric. The Research Center will benefit from the planned construction by increasing its capacity to carry out telecommunications research for the Bell System.

PRESIDENT NAMED

By New Jersey Nurserymen. Herbert W. Kale of Kale's Nursery and Landscape Service on Carter Road has been elected president of the New Jersey Assn. of Nurserymen. He succeeds another Princeton area resident, W. Patton

SPORTS in Princeton

SOMERVILLE WINS

74-59 Over PHS Five. Princeton High School's basketball team, which had been losing by falling way behind in the first period finally got off to a good start Tuesday afternoon against a strong quintet from Somerville.

In fact, the Little Tigers had a 10-9 edge over the Pioneers (19-1) after the first period. They connected on five of 18 shots—six of the 10 points were the work of Billy Brooks—and played heads-up defense. They're doing a good job," shouted PHS coach Larry Ivan.

Other Sports

On Pages 34-37

Then the home team fell apart. It connected on only two of 14 shots in the next period—layups by John Madden and Ron McEwen—and over the next two quarters, it was outscored, 45-17. The 32 points it tallied in the final period came largely against the Somerville reserves.

The Pioneers, losers only to North Plainfield, are led by 6-3 center Bill Garland. He is, quite simply, one of the best players to perform in the PHS gym in a long time. "He's only 6-3 but he jumps like he's 6-8," said Ivan before the game. Garland lived up to his billing.

His spectacular rebounding brought ooh's and aah's from both sides. When he left with five minutes remaining, he had scored a game-high 24 points, pulled down 16 rebounds and led his team in assists.

Princeton's high scorer, Johnny Madden, had only five points going into the start of the final period but ended with 19. Ron McEwen had 14 and Hatch Smith added 11—seven of his coming in the third period when PHS was limited to 11. Brooks ended with 12.

NCA UNDEFEATED

In Industrial Basketball. Joe Cyborcki poured in 25 points to lead NCA to its fourth consecutive win against the losses in YMCA Industrial Basketball league play last week. NCA downed FMC, 42-47, pulling away from a 17-17 tie at the end of the first quarter.

John Dixon had 17 points for FMC. In the second half of the doubleheader, the Hospital defeated RCA, 39-47, to move into second place with a 3-1 record. Roger Madden netted 19 points for the Medics, while Jim Wilno picked up 18 for the losers.

MEUSEL WINS MEDAL

In AAU Swim Meet. Robert Meusel, Princeton High School sophomore, captured a gold medal Sunday for placing first in the 100-yard open freestyle for men in an AAU meet held at the New York Athletic Club. Meusel topped about 30 competitors in his event with his winning time of 32.1. His best, 51.0, he recorded last April in Maryland.

Meusel swam unattached. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meusel of Brunswick Pike.

She was born in Hopewell and was a member of First Presbyterian Church. Surviving are a son, J. De Witt Boice of Princeton; a daughter, Mrs. P. Mackay Sturges of New York City; four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

A private memorial service was held in the First Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel officiating. Interment will be at the convenience of the family under direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

Mrs. Ruth T. Morse, 90, who lived at 40 Princeton Avenue for many years, died January 15 in the Foot Hills Nursing Home, Newhant.

A Princeton resident for a cit at 8 this Tuesday in the playhouse at Westminster Choir College. The program will feature the first performance of a setting of the Magnificat by Mr. Martin and a setting of Stephen Crane's poem "War Is Kind" by James Wake of the College faculty. It will also include compositions by Chopin, Mendelssohn, Brahms, Debussy, Poulenc, Messiaen, Wolf, Grieg and Strauss.

ORGANIST APPOINTED
By Church and College. James H. Lilien, president of the American Cathedral Organists' Association, arrives this week to become organist and choirmaster of Trinity Episcopal Church and a member of the Westminster Choir College organ department. The dual appointment was announced by the Rev. James P. Whittemore, rector of Trinity, and Dr. Lee H. Bristol Jr., president of the Choir College.

Mr. Lilien, former organist and master of the choristers at Christ Church Cathedral, Indianapolis, was a high school graduate. He had further study under Allan Wicks at Canterbury Cathedral in England.

BULLETIN NOTES
A rummage and bake sale will be held from 10 to 4 Saturday at Kingston Presbyterian Church under the auspices of the Senior High Y. Donations of baked good and clothing will be welcomed. Pick-up may be arranged through Larry Dunham or any member of the Senior High Y.

The Friendly Visitors course for volunteers begins Monday at the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute. Hours are from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Gerry classroom. The class is continued on Tuesday and on January 29 and 30. Mrs. Josephine Beavry (466-1047) is in charge.

half century, she was the widow of Prof. Anson E. Morse, a history professor at Temple University. She was born in Ware, Mass.
Mrs. Morse is survived by two sons, Richard E. of Princeton and George E. of Upper Merionide; a daughter, Mrs. J. Nantz Jr. of Hillsdale; and five grandchildren. The service will be Thursday at 11 a.m. at the Mather Funeral Home, Dean Ernest Gordon of the Princeton University Chapel officiating. Burial will be at the convenience of the family.

John Schaefer, 89, of 12 Harris Road, died January 12 in Princeton Hospital. A native of Hungary, he was a retired employee of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Jesse Thomas, with whom he lived; a step-daughter, Mrs. Cornelius Tansany of Jackson Heights, N. Y.; a son, John Schaefer Jr. of Trenton; a granddaughter, two great-grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Louis Smith of Bridge.

The NEW '68 MERCEDES-BENZ Models Are Here—And The '67 Models Aren't Out Of Date. . . Because You Can Hardly Tell The Two Apart.

If you own a current or recent Mercedes-Benz, the invisible model changeover means you'll be spared watching your car drop several hundred dollars in value overnight. And you won't feel as if you've suddenly stuck with last year's fashion. CHANGE FOR MORE THAN CHANGE'S SAKE. Instead of lumping all its changes into one big artificial price over fall, Mercedes-Benz simply adds them to the regular model run whenever the engineering staff declares them ready. The '68 Mercedes-Benz models differ from the '67's only in a handful of technical modifications made simply to meet the Federal regulations that apply to all new domestic and foreign-built cars sold in the U.S. THAT'S ALL. No styling changes to make you think the cars are all new.

GOING ABROAD
Orders for early March production of all Mercedes-Benz now being accepted. Please place your orders early! We will handle all details for you.

There are 13 Mercedes-Benz models, ranging from $25,582 to $47,179 and from limousines to sports to economy cars. Visit Autobahn Motors soon for a test drive of the world's finest motor car . . . and a firsthand look at the invisible model changeover. Our selection is second-to-none in the New Jersey-New York-Pennsylvania area.

Funny, you don't look like a 4-cylinder, 1498cc, 73 hp, overhead valve V-4.
Bet you still think SAAB has only one kind of engine. Our famous 2-cylinder, 3-cylinder "Shrike" engine. Well, don't bet on it. Because SAAB now has a new V-4 engine, too. Zero to 50 in 10 seconds. Top speeds of over 90 mph. More power for acceleration. For hills. For easier passing. (And V-4 SAABs have front-wheel disc brakes, for stopping all that power.) Funny thing, but it looks like this new high-performance V-4 should make the rally-winner. (That's something you can bet on.) SAAB

HAVE IT YOUR OWN WAY: Construction is about to begin on this distinguished Western Section colonial, but there's still time to make whatever changes you want. Designed by William Thompson, it will contain a center hall opening to large living room and family room, each with fireplace, and formal dining room. Super, fully equipped kitchen, big breakfast room, laundry and powder room on the ground floor. Upstairs, there will be 5 twin bedrooms and 3 full baths. Large covered porch could be library, full car and two car garage. All this on a high two acre lot in the Johnson Park School area. Will be ready by late summer. $85,500

A BIG LITTLE HOUSE FOR A COMFORTABLE RETIREMENT: admirably built 1 1/2 story is a most convenient Princeton Township location has a living room big enough for all your treasured possessions, a conservatory for your plants (both of these have fireplaces); a thoughtfully arranged step-over of a kitchen with a comfortable corner, ground floor master bedroom with adjoining study and bath. Upstairs, two class 'em and forget 'em guest bedrooms and bath. Dust-free finished attic will solve all your storage problems. Finished cellar for all those hobbies that you now have time to pursue. Two car attached garage. $52,000

PENTHOUSE LIVING IN A PRINCETON WILDCARDEN: with every important room opening to a terrace, this high ceilinged, glass-walled one floor contemporary has somewhat the air of a plush New York apartment. But that lovely 3/4 acre of woods will give you all the leafy seclusion you want. Large, square living room with fireplace, deluxe, equipped kitchen, informal dining sitting room, master suite plus additional bedrooms and bath. Two car garage. Carpeted and air conditioned. $59,500

VINTAGE HOUSE OF STONE: With walls 18" thick, long windows flooding the well plastered interior with sunlight, and high ceilings to distinguish every room, this interesting Hopewell house has an air distinctly European. On a beautiful, high lot of nearly an acre, it contains an entrance hall with children's playhouse tucked under the stairs, dining room, living room with floor to ceiling bookshelves and glass door to the terrace, a wonderful, country kitchen, 3 bedrooms and 2 baths. Detached two car garage. One of a kind at $39,500

HELP! WE NEED RENTALS! We have two fine families in desperate need of 3-4 bedroom houses. One furnished, the other not. Both must be within the Princeton school system. Six month to 1 1/2 year leases. Up to $400 per month. Any suggestions gratefully received.

A Time to Remember

Once again, TOWN TOPICS takes pleasure in listing the names and addresses of men and women from the Princeton area serving with the U.S. armed forces and Red Cross units overseas. Far from home and their families, they would enjoy a letter from anyone who will take the time. The cost is 10¢, the price of a domestic airmail stamp.

Each month, a drawing will be held by the residents of Merivick from the names on TOWN TOPICS list. The family of the winning serviceman is entitled to a free, three-minute phone call to their son in Vietnam, through the kindness of Communications Workers of America, Local 10.

Many teachers have made writing to Vietnam a class project, filling bulky envelopes with letters, photos and drawings that eventually find their way to a lonely soldier or sailor who used to go to the same school. Perhaps Princeton is a place where the ability to do this, too.

beautiful. Huge mountains and lush valleys combine for a breathtaking landscape. To narrow we are shoving off by helicopter on another operation. Merry Christmas and a happy New Year. Thank you for the Christmas card.

Letters All Year. Because mail is the biggest morale booster for the servicemen, Dana West and his wife have a year-round project of writing to servicemen from the Princeton community who are serving in Vietnam. Mr. West is the gray man with a warm smile who you see in the men's furnishings department at the Princeton University Store. His son Tim returned in December after lengthy service at a Marine Corps cannonier in Vietnam.

A series of letters from Sp/4 Chuck W. Heenan to the West show, as one serviceman said, how badly you want somebody to care.

The first, dated August 23, 1967, was written from an Air Force hospital at Camp Zama, Japan: "I received your letter and card today and want to thank you for your very kind thoughts. It is this type of kindness that makes home so much easier although it may be miles away."

Back To Nam? "I am doing very well now since I have arrived in Japan. I can walk again and rather well. The only bad thing about the whole operation is that I will have some ugly scars on my stomach. The doctors must think I am in good shape because they are deciding whether or not to return me to Nam (Vietnam)."

"I think they will, but they are going to tell me on the 12th of September. I am due to rotate on the 12th of December, so I don't think it will be too bad."

"I was with the 9th Infantry

Division in Nam. We operated here. Our battalion has been in the Mekong Delta about 10 miles below Saigon. Already since February. Thea last week, we declared the village secure, turned it over to Vietnamese protection and now we have moved out.

"All of our belongings have been moved deeper into the Delta to our new location. We are now occupying the site of an abandoned French fort. We are set up around the outside of the fort with our mess hall and headquarters section inside its walls."

"It is a pretty busy place down here. We are surrounded by water on three sides and rice paddies on the other. The river to our east is two thousand meters wide and empties into the sea."

News Of The THEATRES

"CRUCIBLE" COMING
To Repertory. The analogy between the Salem witch trial of 1692 and contemporary "witch hunts" is drawn sharply by Arthur Miller in his play The Crucible, opening Friday at 8:30 in the McCarter repertory series.

Miller wrote the play in the early 50's at the time of the McCarthy hearings. He tells how the 17th century community of Salem resorted to the hysterical accusations of a group of young girls.

Ken Cosigan is directing George Hearn as John Proctor, the man who professes death to living a lie; Mary Doyle as his wife, Elizabeth; Susan Babel, Pamela Hawthorn, Susan Kaslow and Mimi Garth as the young girls; Will Hicks and Jale Denzel as two ministers; K. Lipe and Dell as the judge and Elizabeth Pergeron as Tituba.

JOFFREY BAKER
For Last Time. No more "one hit" appearances in college and university towns—that's the new policy for the City Center Joffrey Ballet.

This means that the Ballet's appearance on Sunday evening, February 4, at 8 p.m., will be its last to McCarter. The dancers are appearing at the second event in the annual Dance Series sponsored jointly by McCarter and the Princeton Ballet Society.

The Joffrey program will offer two works new to Princeton—Gerald Arano's "Cello Concerto" to music by Vivaldi and Jerome Robbins' "Movements" a silent ballet with nut music.

TWO IN "THE CRUCIBLE" The Reverend Parris, portrayed by Will Hicks, has a moment of tension with Abigail, played by Susan Babel, in Arthur Miller's "The Crucible."

Kurt Jooss' "The Green Tinted", which brought the McCarter audience to its feet last April, will be repeated. Orchestra seats only remain, and they are now on sale at the McCarter box office.

MARCEAU BACK

For Last Time. Now on his last inclusive concert tour, the French mime Marcel Marceau will come to McCarter Theatre for the last time on Monday, February 5, at 8:30. He has been coming to Princeton frequently since 1965 when he made his American debut, but he will no longer make one-night stands in college and university towns.

In his final program here, Marceau will present new works and old favorites, including several episodes in the life of his mime character, Pierrot.

Orchestra seats only remain. They are now on sale at the box office.

GRECO BACK

"Bolero" Included. Jose Greco will revive his interpretation of Ravel's "Bolero" Sunday afternoon when he appears in McCarter with his company of Spanish dancers and musicians. Curtain time is 7 p.m.

The series will end on May 13 with Peter Watkins' documentary about a theoretical nuclear attack. It is "The War Game," winner of an Academy Award.

Series subscriptions are available at the box office. Remaining single tickets for the Warhol will go on sale this Friday, at 10 a.m.

SNOW WHITE COMING To Princeton High School. The 1968 Children's Entertainment Series will open with the Traveling Playhouse's production of "Snow White." The presentation is scheduled for 5 o'clock Saturday in the Princeton High School auditorium.

Professional actors will handle all of the roles in the class.

IT'S NEW To Us

SLIP ON THE SUN
Swim in the Blue. Grouping through sun, rain, sleet and gloom of night not long ago, we found our way by the bright gleam of Piccadilly's lemon yellow travel slacks, high as a tropic sun and wonderful just to look at, on a dark January day.

It's a drip-dry polyester, seamed at a low waistline and marked at the throat by a turner collar. Two slash pockets hold your ticket stubs. $26.

Another good traveler is white, belted high in front below a wide boat neckline. Little sleeves keep you from a shoulder sunburn.

You'll pick a dewy-eyed little Liberty print shirt with narrow, narrow rickrack trim and a pocket so low it tangles with the hem. (114). A similar print is very heavy cotton, designed with tiny tucks the full length, and a low belt line.

Golfers going south will take a very serious dress. It's Piccadilly's dark blue denim culotte with zipper down the front of the culotte from the waistline. If you please. It has square armholes and absolutely NO nonsense.

More frivolous golfers may secretly pack the skirt that's culotte in back and a skirt in front. It's above the knee, but not mini, and we like it best in a kind of pale green, belted with a little gold lock and key.

A similar skirt is Tattersall. Then, there's one with green or yellow gingham inside, solid green or yellow outside, and a ditty with a stern leather belt interwoven with white rope. These are sized for $16, priced $15 to $26.

If you'd rather swim than score, Piccadilly brings out two-piece Liberty print bathing suits with jockey hats to match. There's also an unbleached muslin duo stitched with brown, and an A-line leather-trimmed wrap skirt to match.

Dressing up, Piccadilly wears a pale cream "linen" with two sets of vertical tucks all the way down, and a Bermuda culotte. (116). Bonded natural lace makes a lined sleeveless sheath (roll collar, if you prefer) which can be held in with leather belt.

A silk-cotton print ($35) has a navy ground with primary flowers in red, yellow, blue and white.

For very dress up, here's an eye-dazzling silk in swirls of plain and solid geometry in every color you can name. Styled with low U-back and front and an Empire bodice with tiny bow.

Staying at home? You can get even by wearing one of Piccadilly's ensembles. Maybe the one with navy dress tucked at the waistline and stitched gently with red, topped with the brightest navy-red check coat you ever saw ($60). The gathered into a smart cuff, rather like a shirt, and a narrow navy belt.

Navy switches around to make the full, brass-buttoned coat that goes over a white dress pulled in with a wide lemon and navy belt. On another, navy and white combine in a basketweave plaid coat with optional white leather belt and side closing. The dress is a white Empire.

Those wide new belts appear frequently this spring at Piccadilly (and elsewhere, as you know). Here's one around a bone dress with long sleeves, jewel neck and side buttons. ($35).

The belt is a wide sash in a lime green wrap with a Russian look in its mandarin collar, long gathered sleeves and deep wristbands. $35.

NEXT PORT OF CALL...
The English Shop. To match the color coming out of his wife's suitcase, the husband will stop at The English Shop for a open blue jacket, a pair

Four Me a Jacket

Shades of a good stiff drink predominate this happy cruise season at The English Shop.

Colors you once called "brown," "tan," or natural are now Dark Rum, Light Rum or Scotch. The color they used to call "honey" is now—well, they don't actually use the term at the shop, but it's really "mead," that delightful concoction made from fermented honey.

You get a potent cocktail indeed if you mix dark rum, light rum and champagne into a pleasantly "tan" Glen plaid. Slip into it easy, but don't say we didn't warn you!

Of creamy slacks with stripes in varying widths and colors and some navy-red white checked Bermudas.

Yep, it's color all the way. Especially those rum and whisky shades mentioned elsewhere. Slacks are notably colorful, in off-whites striped narrowly with blue, maybe, or sea-green. Wear them with a

"MEXICO'S REACHES"
Is Travelogue Topic, Col.
John D. Craig will give an illustrated talk about "Mexico's Golden Reaches" at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Princeton Playhouse. The Kiwanis Club is sponsor.
This is another of Col.
Craig's unusual high adventure travelogues, humorous and unmatched for information and surprises. The colonel and his adventure crew, which includes his driving daughter Kathy, fly into La Paz, capital of Baja California and go on from there they find marshy underwater, chase moray eels and dry out a hush hot road.
The trip includes Puerto Vallarta, folklore village of colonial Mexico, Yelapa, Mexico's primitive paradise, Acapulco, and the island of Cosmel.

PLAYHOUSE
Fitzwilly (now playing) Dick Van Dyke plays a Robin Hood type in this situation comedy. He robs the rich to keep a good-natured, harmless old lady from bankruptcy.
Cast as the faithful butler who inherited the position (from his father), Van Dyke does not reveal to the elderly woman (Dame Edith Evans) that his father has left her pen-sionless. Instead he organizes the other servants into a gang of crooks who steal not for their own good, but for her.
The results keep her in the style to which she is accustomed and also take care of her support of oddball charity groups. The fun begins when she hires a part-time secretary-typist, played by youthful Barbara Feldon, to help her work on a dictionary for people who can't spell. The typist catches on, but allows the butler one more caper — which turns out to be a somewhat inspired robbery of Gimbel's department store.
Designed as a "family" film, "Fitzwilly" has humor, a light plot and adequate performances.
GARDEN
Ski on the Wild Side (Fri. and Sat.) shows skiing in California, Colorado, Vermont, Wyoming, France, USSR, Yugoslavia, New Zealand — and Japan. Experts and beginners hit the slopes in all manners and techniques. Producer-director Warren Miller emulates the wary, sly and dry documentaries of Pete Smith, who used to turn out humorous shorts for MCM years ago.
Nobody Waved Goodbye.
(Sun. and Mon.) The youth in this film is a typical "good boy" gone bad to the consternation of his middle class parents. He quits school, is arrested for dangerous driving, and short-changes the customers at the parking lot. His girl friend becomes pregnant and persuades him to run away with her but backs out when she discovers he has stolen both the car and the money they are using to elope.
Released in May, this was the first feature film of the National Film Board of Canada, which has an enviable reputation for excellence in the short subjects field.
This venture, 84 minutes long,
was obviously a labor of love of all involved in making it
... who have even avoided
a pat ending.

Re-elected chairman of the Planning Board for the third time last week, Mr. Morgan has been a member of the board for five years. Previously, for six years, he was a member of the Borough Zoning Board. It was under his chairmanship that the new Master Plan of the Borough was completed.

Arthur P. Morgan

The Historical Society has appointed Mrs. Lucious Wimpeling, Jr., chairman of the Museum Committee, and Mrs.

NEW LAB TO OPEN
At Princeton Hospital, New equipment which can run 16 different blood tests on a single sample of your blood is the hub of the new John Fairfield Laboratory dedicated this week at Princeton Hospital.

"This is a new concept," explains Dr. Stanley Bauer, chief pathologist at the hospital and head of the lab. "What we're really doing with these 16 different tests is making a bio-chemical profile of you."

"With this profile, we can detect unaided disease catch them while they are still in their early stages, perhaps before you have any symptoms at all."

The 16 tests will be made at routine procedure on everyone who checks in at the hospital. Suppose you go to a doctor because you broke your ankle on the ski slopes. Dr. Bauer continues, "The blood tests will be made as a routine matter, and maybe they will reveal a condition you didn't yet know you had — unrelated to that broken ankle."

Lots of Tubes. The machine that does the tests is called a Sequential Multiple Analyzer. At the moment, the hospital has a four channel SMA. Very soon it will receive its 12-channel SMA and then the 16-test procedure can begin.

Although it is an extremely sophisticated example of automated laboratory equipment, the present four-channel SMA looks like something a sixth grader might enter in a science fair. (See picture).

"Without the SMA, running these 16 blood tests on a single matter would be much too costly," Dr. Bauer states. Perhaps several hundred dollars. Now, with automated equipment, they can be turned out at a very reasonable cost.

The machines themselves,

BLOOD TESTING, AUTOMATED: Dr. Stanley Bauer, chief pathologist at Princeton Hospital, stands by the four-channel blood analyzer in the hospital's new lab. Dr. Bauer, three other pathologists and a staff of more than 40 full-time and seven part-time specialists have moved into the new facility.

Oddly enough, were not expensive as such things go. The present four-channel SMA cost $15,000 and the new 12-channel will be $61,000.

The capacity will be 720 tests each hour, not only much faster, but much more accurate than human technicians could hope to be.

"With this machine, data are never handled by human hands or minds," says Dr. Bauer, "the machine doesn't have headaches and never gets stowed in!"

About 150 hospitals in the United States have the SMA and Princeton is among the first 50 to acquire the new 12-channel model.

The SMA was invented by Edwin C. Whitehead, president of the Technicon Corporation of Ardsley, N.Y., a firm which has won international renown for its application of automation procedures to analytical chemistry.

Mr. Whitehead was the speaker at Wednesday's dedication ceremonies at the hospital, speaking on "Laboratory of the Future."

Today and Tomorrow. Princeton's new laboratory of the future is located behind level under the new "J" Building parking lot. It has 10,000 square feet of space, compared to the 2,700 feet in the lab they left behind. Light cream walls are spiced with bright apricot or lime green cupboards.

"Small, dark and inadequate," is Dr. Bauer's capsule description of the old quarters.

Large, light and splendidly adequate, the new lab will continue to make more than a quarter of a million analyses each year, about 250,000 more each year, says Dr. Bauer, joined the staff.

The chief pathologist looks eagerly ahead to all the lab can do, now that the SMA frees technicians for other work.

Hormone assays; special urine tests for high-blood pressure patients; screening of all newborn in a kind of extension of the routine PKU tests, to detect metabolic defects that might result in serious disease; tests on a new blood gas machine, making it easy for doctors to study heart and lung problems and find out how effective their therapy is.

... all these are part of the new picture.

Another newcomer is a gleaming hood which enables technicians to work safely by means of porches with tuberculous or other dangerous diseases. A high-powered incinerator then destroys the bacteria so there can be no contamination.

Lend Some Blood? The lab is the first in a New Jersey hospital to have a blood component therapy program. This allows a doctor to give tailor-made transfusions to a patient — red cell only, if that's what the patient needs, or plasma only, if that is indicated.

For example, one of the freezers in the bright new lab is full of cryo precipitate, a battery-looking substance which provides the hemophiliacs with precisely the blood he needs to treat his bleeding, thereby saving the rest of the blood for someone else.

This blood component program is operated with the New York Regional Red Cross Center, which distributes the components around the state, as they are needed.

"It's a prototype program," Dr. Bauer says, "and we hope it sets a pattern for other hospitals."

And Then... For the future — maybe 18 months from now — Dr. Bauer sees a diagnostic virus lab in the hospital, so that a doctor can find out right now, whether an obscure disease is viral or not.

"We think that five, or possibly ten, years from now," Dr. Bauer says with enthusiasm, "antiviral drugs will be just as available as antibacterial drugs are now because of course there are only about two virus diseases now you can treat with drugs and when that day comes, we hope our diagnostic virus lab will already be in full operation."

"It will be," Dr. Bauer smiles proudly. "The first one in New Jersey in a private hospital!"

BIRTHS

Forty Born. Twenty-two boys and 18 girls were born at Princeton Hospital during the 13-day period from Christmas Day to January 6. ART In Princeton

CATLIN'S INDIANS

At Princeton Art Museum. Paintings from Catlin's Indian Gallery on loan from the Smithsonian Institution and Indian artifacts on loan from both the Natural History Museum and University Library make up an interesting special show at the Art Museum through February 18. The exhibition was proposed by the University League in remembrance of Joseph Henry, Professor of Natural Philosophy in Princeton, who became the first secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and was the friend and supporter of George Catlin, the pioneer painter of the American Indian.

The group shown here comes from an extensive collection of drawings and paintings which Catlin did in the 1830's when he left his Philadelphia law practice and traveled through the West to record for posterity the character, the life and manner of the fast disappearing Indian tribes. His interest had gathered in twenty years since his childhood and he felt he had been "luckily born in time to see with these people in their native dignity and beauty and independence." This is the way he wanted to portray them and, as in all his work, he was completely faithful to detail of costume, gesture and ritual.

The Western Scene. From preliminary field sketches, which were very often the most fresh and flavorful of all his efforts, he then painted the landscapes, activities and individual portraits of Pawnee, Blackfeet, Crow, Sioux and the wild Comanches. A snow shoe dance is drawn with marvelous characterization and movement. The painting of Buffalo chase or Comanche fight is primitive, with a touch of style which does not exclude a speediness of subject and expression.

A portrait of San Ho Ka is the most complete and inter-

MILESTONE AT LIBRARY: To Mrs. William L. Bauer of Kingston fell the honor of taking out the 200,000th book from the Princeton Public Library during 1967. With Mrs. Bauer, one of the library's "regulars," is Robert Staples, head librarian. Mr. Staples reported that the 200,000 books represented an increase of a little over 25 percent over 1966, on a per capita basis for Princeton's 25,000 residents this is 12 books per year — "something unheard of for a town this size," said Mr. Staples. (Staff Photo) esting portrait. This 12-year-old girl is from a North Duke of Menden tribe in which one out of 12 (most generally among the women), is born with grey hair. Rather than considered a freak of nature, this special trait was admired. The half-breed was to grow long and fall and shown to full advantage. This handsome girl makes an equally handsome portrait.

Historically more important is the tribal chief painted by Catlin to exhibit all his wit and judgment and power of command; and this portrait is typical of his desire to represent the Indian people in full dignity, their pride, vanity, talents as necessary to their characterization as the picturesque costumes and accoutrements. We were delighted with the grandson of Buffalo Bill, Big Fat, a small boy with a long name; Tcha-Ae-Ka-Ding, already with a Blackfoot leader expression, a bow and arrow in hand.

His large and round head and lumpy are supported by two tiny feet in little beaded moccasins. How could this stout soul propel himself and his hunting equipment across the wild plain? In spite of the fact that the drawing is not always anatomically correct, the costumes are accurate and the essence of the American Indian is there to remind us of a great loss.

Museum hours. Tuesday through Sunday, 10 to 4, and on Sunday 2 to 4.

RUTH ANN MACPHERSON
At Present Day Club. During January, the Present Day Club has on exhibit paintings, drawings and watercolors by Ruth Ann MacPherson of Rocky Hill. Mrs. MacPherson has lived in the Princeton area for three years, is a member of the Princeton Art Association, the South Somerset Guild of Creative Arts and is active in the P.E.O., an international society which supports education in art and other fields including a college for women at the midwest.

A graduate of Columbia University with a B.S. and M.A. in Fine Arts and Fine Arts Administration, she also attended the Cornish School of Music and Art, the University of Washington, the Art Institute and American Academy in Chicago, the Western Reserve University in Cleveland and the Art Student League in New York City. She has taught courses in art and designing with mixed media in Danbury State College and Southern Connecticut College, East and in California. She has written and illustrated children's books and has painted and traveled widely in Alaska, Mexico and the Caribbean.

OPPOSES TRAVEL RESTRICTIONS: Anthony Brazil, president of the Princeton Travel Service, is, understandably, opposed to President Johnson's request that Americans limit their travel to the Western Hemisphere to help the balance of payments deficit. "There must be some other way," he says. (Staff Photo)

Question Of The Week

Question: What is your opinion of President Johnson's request that Americans not travel abroad to help cut our balance of payments deficit?

Where asked: Witherspoon Street.

Anthony Brazil, Hillsborough Township, president, Princeton Travel Service, University Square: I don't like it. I can understand this dollar deficit but I think there must be some other way — possibly to intensify the campaign to bring foreign visitors to the United States. This was started several years ago. Certainly, there is a great deal to see in this country. I hate to see restrictions put on travel abroad.

John Coyer, 8 Hufnagel Street, folk guitar teacher: I'm approaching the problem from the wrong side. If he really wanted to increase our gold supply, the best solution would be to end the war in Vietnam. This is what's draining our treasury — not our travel abroad.

Mrs. Cynthia Gooding, 60 Wiggins Street, writer: I think he'd save more money by stopping the war in Vietnam.

Mrs. Estelle Briscoe, 32 Clearview Avenue, telephone company employee: I always felt I would rather see this country first, then Europe, so it wouldn't affect me but I don't think he should tell other people what to do. I feel they want to travel, that's their affair. Johnson should look somewhere else to cut back.

Mrs. Vibeke Elnarsh, Marshall Street, housewife: I think it's awful because the kind of work my husband is in, he travels a lot, and of course we take advantage of it. Also, since my parents are in Europe I like to go as often as possible.

William Crawford, Willingboro, employee, American Mop: I think it's a good idea. I think it will work, it will help stop the gold outflow. Do you think people will stay away? Yes, they'll especially stay away from France.

Kenneth Mantion, Pyne Hall, University Junior: I'm not sure how much this would help our balance of payments or what percentage of our over seas spending involves travel. Because the payments of the war are so large, Johnson is trying to cut back everywhere he can. He is picking up all the pennies across the board and this seems to me to be a pignifying place to do it. I think he would do better if he were to concentrate on corporate investment overseas or perhaps the present tariff structure.

Mrs. Wilda Griffin, Plantation Apartments: I don't agree with him. If people are supposed to get along together, how are they going to get to know one another if they don't visit each other? The world is getting smaller all the time. I was never interested in going abroad but now that I have I feel that I have a better understanding of the people I visited. The government could say that travelers abroad should use only American carriers. That's half your money right there.

James Little, Trenton, or ganist for Trinity Church: I don't think it's a good idea, especially for students. European travel is pretty necessary for many students, especially in certain fields. I suppose this is to help our dollar supply but I think he could find a better way to do this.

John Peck, Princeton Windsor Apartments, librarian at Westminster Choir College: For students and others who travel, it would be a hardship. I feel the Jet set will go anyway. It's hard to say if there are better ways to solve the problem.

Mrs. Sheila Barrett, 48 Murray Place, professional skater: I'm from England and we're used to these kinds of restrictions. In fact, I was home in May and we were limited to 50 pounds, the amount of money we could take out. I think it is time for the Americans to get used to this for a little while. I think there are a lot of states to see here and there are all beautiful. There's a lot to see. We've traveled across your country four times by car. It's beautiful.

Earl Betts, Trenton, employee, Princeton Travel Service: I don't think he should place a blanket limit on travel. I think people should have the freedom to travel whenever they want. The United States benefits as much from tourists as other countries. What I do think is that there should be some restrictions on some people like this Rap Brown, for example, who goes into Communist countries to slander the U.S. and stir up the protection of those countries and we can't do anything about it. Why hide behind another country to condemn the U.S.?

Who's the catch? There isn't any.

$1,699 is the suggested retail price at the port of entry for the VW sedan. The price includes federal excise tax and import duty.

It also includes the built-in heater/defroster, windshield washer, electric windshield wiper, outside rear view mirror, and seat belts front and back.

Not to mention the padded dash and front seat headrests. It's the price of the real thing, not a stripped-down economy model.

What else do you have to pay? The charge for transporting the car from the port of entry. The dealer delivery charge. And local sales tax.

There is one optional that makes a lot of sense. The matching leatherette upholstery. For $30.00 extra. (Nearly everybody gets it because it eliminates the need for seat covers.)

Well, that's it. Unless, of course, you count the cost of gas and oil it takes you to get here in your present car.

PEOPLE In The News

Two Princeton residents have completed phases of their training with this country's armed forces. Hospitalman and apprentice Jay M. Tobin, son of Mrs. June L. Tobin, 261 Jefferson Road, has graduated from the 14-week basic hospital corps school. He is a 1st Lt. Marine PFC Brian D. Henningsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair K. Henningsen, 22 Clearview Avenue, participated in an amphibious training exercise at Vieques Island, Puerto Rico.

Capt. Ben Olsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Olsen of Washington Ave., Griggstown, has received his second Air Force commendation medal at Fairchild AFB, Wash. As a member of a specially trained and equipped combat security force, Capt. Olsen was sent to Phu Cat Air Base in Vietnam to evaluate its operational proficiency and to conduct field tests on various weapons and electronic detection devices.

Capt. Olsen was particularly cited for his outstanding professional and knowledge on developing and maintaining logistic support for the unique operation. A graduate of Princeton High School, he received a bachelor's degree in business administration from Rutgers University in 1961.

Alan B. Wallace, 32 Edwards Place, has been promoted to the position of procedures and cost analyst in the Office of Administrative Services at Princeton University. Formerly manager of the Graduate College dining halls, Mr. Wallace has been serving for the past year as controller.

of the Food Services Department. A 1961 graduate of Cornell University's School of Hotel Administration, he will have university-wide duties relating to budgeting and cost control.

Mrs. Jean McDonough, library coordinator for Princeton Regional Schools, was a delegate to the mid-winter meeting of the American Library Association in Miami. She served as a panel member in a closed workshop that will examine new standards for school libraries.

David Lieberman, a freshman at Denison University in Greenville, Ohio, has pledged Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He is a 1967 Hunt School graduate, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Alderstein, 161 Laurelton Road.

Mrs. Ann L. Winters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton S. Winters, 89 Poe Road, is one of 24 Beaver College students who will spend the next 18 weeks studying in London, England. A junior at Beaver majoring in Speech Theatre, Miss Winters will take 16 credit hours of classes at the City of London College as well as participating in social cultural tours to sites and events around London.

William J. Curran, Penn. State, Princeton Junction, has been hired by "Sports Illustrated" to work on the magazine's New York Advertising Sales staff. A 1954 graduate of Harvard College, Mr. Curran has held advertising posts with "Scholastic Magazine" and "Popular Mechanics."

Mrs. Elizabeth Kreiger, for 37 years an active member of the American Legion Auxiliary, has been given a lifetime membership card and pin by the Auxiliary, the first such presentation in its 46 years of existence. Mrs. Margie Davidson, president of the Auxiliary, made the award at a party given in Mrs. Kreiger's honor at the American Legion Home.

Mrs. Kreiger has served the organization in every possible administrative capacity. She is president of the Mercer County American Legion Auxiliary. Her husband is a former Commander of Legion Post 76.

Dr. Philip Parzee, 145 Shady Brook Lane, a senior member of the technical staff of RCA Astro-Electronics Division, will present a paper Monday at the American Institute of Aerospace and Aeronautics. His paper, "Noise Radiated from Ion Engines," will analyze the noise radiated in space during propulsion.

Charles J. Iannolo, whose wife Audrey lives at 246 Nassau Street, has been commissioned an Army second lieutenant. The promotion came after 23 weeks of basic officer instruction during which the lieutenant received ordnance training and maintenance management at Ft. Knox, Ky., and Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Mark A. Daunenbauer, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Daunenbauer, 29 Air Place, is one of 18 Earlham College students participating in an off-campus study program in New York City. During the three-month program, he will attend a series of 18 events in various fields of the creative arts: drama, music and art. These events will be supplemented by required reading and general discussion groups.

First Lieutenant David V. Mastrian, whose wife, Shelley, is the daughter of Mrs. Jeanette S. Smith of Princeton, has been given the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal for meritorious service at Kelly Air Force Base. An operations research scientist at Kelly, Lt. Mastrian was cited for his leadership and job knowledge.

Dr. Paul Benacerraf, associate dean of the Graduate School at Princeton University, has been appointed associate provost for special studies. He will work with Provost William G. Bowen on studies of budgeting and planning procedures, scheduling problems, and other aspects of resource allocation within the University.

Currently on leave with a Guggenheim Fellowship, Prof. Benacerraf is a member of the philosophy department, native of Paris, he graduated magna cum laude from Princeton in 1933 and received his master's and doctorate from the University of Chicago in 1935 and 1937, respectively.

Five residents of the Princeton area will attend the State Agricultural Convention in Trenton next week. The official delegates representing various county or state farm organizations are: Clarence H. Stelman Jr., Princeton; W. G. Bowen, Princeton; J. H. Stelman, Princeton; J. H. Stelman, Princeton; J. H. Stelman, Princeton.

Sports in Princeton
midway through the second period.

PIS peppered the Cranford goalie with 30 shots, but could not come up with more than two goals. Cranford only managed 13 shots, but in Ron Miller's hands "managed to hang on until the end." They had a very scrappy team, and we were unable to convert our opportunities into scores, Ron Miller said. "We also had too many unnecessary penalties in the third period."

PIS played two and a half 30-minute halves with two men off the ice, after being hit with three quick penalties. The Panthers will have a second chance against Cranford, when the two teams meet for the second time on Friday, February 16.

GRAPPLERS WIN FAIR

PIS vs. Han Nect. Lopsided triumph over Notre Dame and Trenton last week pushed the Princeton High School wrestling team's record to 3-3 and enabled the Blue and White to equal its number of victories for the entire season last year.

Next coach Tom Murray's squad will take on its cross-town rival, Hun School, in a dual match Wednesday at 3:30 at Hun. Hun topped PIS last year in its first season of varsity competition.

This Wednesday afternoon, PIS was scheduled to oppose Freddie in the PIS gym. Freddie (2-1) lost its first match last weekend, 29-1, to Lawrenceville.

Pins by Mark Evans, Hawk Wilkinson, Tris Coffin, Sam Proccaccini, Ross Bayer and Nick Arcano highlighted the Little Tigers' 43.5 victory over the Irish Friday in the John Witherspoon gym. Only Chris Minslow, wrestling out of his weight class in the Junior High division, was a Notre Dame victim.

Perhaps the most satisfying win was recorded by co-captain John Barclay in his bout (4-1) pounced by Jim Lee. John won a close decision over Lee who had defeated him three times previously.

Earlier, PIS had trounced Trenton, 46-8.

PIS AT HAMILTON NEXT

Madison Tuesday. Here's no easy one: Which high school wrestling team always falls behind in the first period, finally jells in the second half — but too late to win?

Right, Princeton High School which again on Friday followed this familiar pattern in losing to winless Lawrenceville, 43-5, on the victors' home court. Down 24-14 at the end of the first quarter, PIS managed to come within four in the final period but fell victim to a six-point spear by the Larries. The loss was the Little Tigers' eighth in a row and ninth in 10 games.

On Friday the Blue and White will try again to find the handle to that elusive last start when it travels to Hamilton for an 8 p.m. contest with the Hornets. Hamilton, ranked seventh among all area teams, owns a 4-4 record.

Tuesday evening at 8, PIS will tangle with Madison Township. That game will be played at Madison.

What PIS coach Larry Ivan said last week as he watched his team's first period — a lead in the first period — a tie in the second — a lead in the third — he could have repeated on Friday. "It hurt to have to come back in every game. It takes them too long to crank up but this is something that will come with maturity."

A quick glance at the remaining nine games after Madison, however, indicates that PIS is not going to make considerably the remainder of the season. Of the nine remaining foes, four have already scored victories over the Little Tigers and the others all strong.

Even in Shooting, Against

Lawrenceville, (3-3) PIS almost matched the home team in baskets, 35 to 34, and in shooting accuracy. Lawrenceville hit 35 of 71 shots, one more than PIS which also shot 71 times. Both teams placed four men in double figures.

The difference was in rebounding, where Lawrenceville enjoyed a 44-36 edge, and in field shooting, where PIS trailed 17-17.

Hutch Smith, whose opening game basket gave PIS a brief lead, scored 13 points, the first time he has reached double figures this season. Ron McEwen was high for the losers with 21 and John Madden, the only Little Tiger never to have fallen below double figures in all 10 games had 13. Billy Brooks contributed 11.
